“ Dave, my greatest memory of you are many we sat on your porch many hot days when we met four years ago and tell our happy ,sad, and sometimes trippy time that we felt were the greastest times of our lives . I was a broken man trying to stay sober and you treated like i was a normal person . Never in my life had i met someone and tell them my story have i been treat normal and i never got a chance to say thank you because you treated me in such away that chand the course of my lufe im sober as you know , happily married you watched it unfold. I said thanks in our way and you were great for the buzz ive always described yiu to ones that were unlucky not getting to know you as THE GREATEST HIPPIY TO EVER LIVE!!! I remeber one evening melony had been home i hadnt stopped a few weeks and when she heard i had a job and was getting married that weekend she had the biggest grin and looked at the yahoos on the porch and said wtf wrong with you kids this man homeless 3yrs addict a lot longer and look hes doing something youu guys should to. My reply to that was No, I'm not doing something they taught me something. I have been using all the past Torch and everything.I've ever been to as a crutch and they told me Monday and if you stop using it for a crutch, you'll learn how to walk and you'll like it.He said.That's what it took for me because I didn't know he had drank. That was the first time in my life.I actually listened because I respected him so much.
