“ Linda was one of those people who was such a huge and memorable part of my childhood. She and my mother Phyllis were the best of friends. We spent so much time at her house, swimming and playing with the kids that it seemed like Mike and Kelley were almost siblings for the four of us. Linda was like our second mother. She was, hands down, the funniest person I ever knew. I remember a house filled with laughter. We loved her so. I pray that she and my mother are together again, laughing it up as they always did. Rest in Peace Linda. I'll never forget your smile or your laugh. To the family, I am so sorry for your loss. She was a wonderful lady.

“ Kelly, poem for your family. Angel In Season You now have your own private angel To watch over you. When the warmth of the sun Falls onto your skin, you will feel his warmth. The gentle breeze of spring will bring Fond memories of him. When the flowers sprout, that is he, Telling you there is new life. Sometimes you see a rainbow and know He is saying he is with you. He is never far away when you see A leaf drop from a mighty tree. The cold blast of winter is there To tell you to wake up and live a full life. When you need him you can always look To the sky and see a special cloud To let you know you are still in his thoughts. He is at peace and though you don't think you Will ever be, he has ways of telling you that he is ok And you will be too! Created by Murry
